

AFSG Privacy Policy

1. Commitment

The privacy of our website users, whether you are our former or existing client or visitor to our website (the “Site”), is important to AFS Global Ltd (“AFS”) is committed to safeguard it. This policy demonstrates how we at AFS collect, use and protect the personal information we hold about you.

2. Data collection

AFS will only collect personal data when you specifically and knowingly provide it to us. If you open a Live or Demo account, you will be asked for information regarding your name and address, employment, salary/income and other personal details. As part of the current anti-money laundering regulations, we are required to establish proof of your identity and address details. This process may be conducted using information provided by identification verification agencies and you may be asked to supply additional information to support any unsuccessful verification attempts.

We may use the personal information you provide to contact you in the future about AFS products and/or services, where you have consented to be contacted for such purposes. We will also use data held on you for the purposes of (i) ensuring the content on the Site is presented in the most effective manner, (ii) carrying out our obligations arising from any agreements entered into between AFS and you, and (iii) notifying you about changes to our products and/or services.

3. Retention of records

AFS will keep personal data only as long as it is necessary, including for the purposes of updating the product or services or as required by law. When the personal data is no longer required, it will be destroyed either by shredding or other approved destruction methods to prevent unauthorised parties from gaining access to the information during and after the process.

We will safeguard information in our custody.

We have developed and will maintain security procedures to safeguard personal data against loss, theft, copying and unauthorised disclosure, use or modification. Access to personal data is restricted to employees and authorised service providers who need it to perform their work.
